SHOCKING TRAGEDY

Three Revenue Officers Walk Into Death Trap.

Shot from Ambush While Making Raid on Moonshine Still in Mountains of Eastern Kentucky.

Pikeville, Ky., May 7.—(Spec.)—Not in years has Eastern Kentucky witnessed so cold-blooded, heartless and shocking a tragedy as that which was enacted in the Blue-head Notch of the Cumberland mountains within a stone's throw of the State line between Kentucky and Virginia last Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, when U. S. Deputy Marshals Marion Ramey, of Elkhorn City, John Sloane and J. Mart Potter, of this city, were shot from ambush while making a raid upon the moonshine still of David and Sol Hall and Tom Riddle, the latter a negro.

Last week Miss Adelia Hall, sister of the two outlaws, came to Pikeville and complained that her brothers had mistreated her, had compelled her to leave her home under threats of death, and had denied silence upon her part under penalty. She went before U. Commissioner I. E. Gray and procured warrants for their arrest, together with that of the negro Riddle.

She also gave the officers all information she possessed, and offered to guide them to the still, which was located high upon the hillside, and hidden behind a ledge of rock. The officers accepted her offer, and left Pikeville on horseback late Saturday afternoon, sending her to Elkhorn City by the 1:30 train. On Sunday morning they set out for the Breaks, and reached the location of the still about 10 o'clock a. m. Sol Hall had gone over the hill to his father's house, about one mile down the slope on the Virginia side, and only his brother David and the negro were left at the still. They sighted the officers approaching, led by the girl, about one-half mile away, they withdrew to a clump of bushes a few yards above the still. When they arrived at the still the place presented a deserted appearance, and they began to think they would have an easy job destroying the moonshine factory. Ramey shoved his pistol back into the holster, advanced and lifted the still onto his shoulder, placing a bandana handkerchief between his head and the smoked surface of the kettle. He started to descend the mountain with his burden, and had advanced only a few steps when, crack! A pistol shot rang out from the bushes only a few yards above, and in rapid succession a dozen more shots followed. The first shot struck him in the back of the head, and he dropped the still and fell to the ground. He died instantly, and his death struggles were not violent enough to move the handkerchief which fell over his face. Instantly Potter and Sloane had drawn their guns and were returning the deadly fire, which this time was directed toward Sloane. One shot pierced his head, and several more perforated his body. Potter's gun was shot out of his right hand, and as he reached with his left to snatch the one in Sloane's dead hand another ball burst the handles from a revolver in his hip pocket. Seeing that there was no chance for him unless he withdrew, he set about retreating, dodging behind trees, rocks, etc., and while making his escape he was shot three times. But he was not disabled, and traveled a mile, mainly on his hands and knees, toward Elkhorn City.

The bandits rushed forward, seized the stupefied girl and dragged her across the line into Virginia to her father's house, meaning to keep her as a shield against the attacks of officers in pursuit. But she escaped and found her way back through the Notch to the Kentucky side. She overtook Potter's loose horse one and one-half miles down the mountain side, and mounting it galloped into Elkhorn City with the news of the tragedy. A small party of men went in search of Potter, and the other two men, believing all three to be dead. But Potter was found two miles out trying to reach the settlement. He was immediately removed to the hospital at Elkhorn, where he underwent an operation, and 23 bullet holes were removed.

The other two bodies were found also and brought in. Ramey was buried there, but Sloane's body was brought to Pikeville for interment. Potter was also brought here, but his case is not serious, and his physician says he will soon be out of danger.

Meanwhile the outlaws had made good their escape into the mountain fastnesses of the Cumberland, and early in the afternoon a party of about fifteen men were sent in pursuit, but with no success. On Monday a sum of money was contributed by the people of Elkhorn to aid in the continuation of the search. Britt Potter, brother of Mart Potter, the wounded officer, and John Addington, both former revenue men, chartered a train at Jenkins and came in to Pikeville. They were joined by James McCoy and seven other men, and on Tuesday they boarded the afternoon train, armed with rifles and revolvers prepared to make a thorough search for the two men who they believed to be in hiding on the Virginia side. Potter, Addington and McCoy and their men lost no time at Elkhorn City, but, hastily snatching up a small quantity of provisions, they plunged into the mountains, carrying with them the grim determination not to return to Pikeville until the murderous gang of moonshiners had been taken.

They crossed one of the ridges of the mountain and camped in the woods that night. On Wednesday morning the party struck the unmistakeable trail of the bandits, and at 10 o'clock overtook Hunt Hall, the father, Jno. Hall, Sol Hall, Harlan and Riley Hall, the brothers, and the wife of the negro, Tom Riddle. These were arrested without any difficulty and brought to Pikeville without any difficulty by a detachment from the searching party under the direction of Britt Potter. They returned to the scene of the hunt by the morning train Thursday, and they will not give up the search until the two principals, Dave Hall and the negro Riddle have been captured.

HONORED WITH DIPLOMA.

Emmet K. Waddell, of near Webbville, has an honor diploma which was awarded to him by the State Agricultural Department for excellence as a corn grower. The diploma is a very handsome one, and is signed by Governor McCreary, the Commissioner of Agriculture, the State Superintendent of Instruction and County Superintendent O'Daniel, Young Waddell is a son of M. F. Waddell, of this county.

C. C. & O. RAILROAD.

New Line Through the "Breaks" to be Completed in About A Year.

Over the forty miles between Dante, Va., and Elkhorn, Ky., rail road building operations for the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio's extension to connect with the Chesapeake and Ohio system are now in full swing. It is one of the longest forty miles for rail road building anywhere in the United States. No fewer than twenty-one holes in the mountains, one a mile and a half long, must be bored to let the line through. One rough and ragged stretch follows another the whole way. There will be enough grading and bridging to suffice for many times the same mileage on an ordinary line. And the difficulties are greatly increased by the necessity of building a railroad for the heaviest, hauling with the lowest grades; this section will be of first-class standard construction in every respect like the line between Dante across the North Carolina mountains to Spartanburg, characterized by solid hills instead of even the best trestles and everything else that befits a road designed primarily for the long-distance transportation of coal. The cost has been unofficially estimated at $5,000,000, or $125,000 a mile. It needs very strong financial backing, which the Clinchfield has, to do such things.

But the benefits in prospects from the extension are more than proportionate even to this extraordinary expense. Halting at Dante, the Clinchfield has its northern terminus in the back woods. It gets nowhere in that direction, facing southward alone. Connecting with the C. & O. at Elkhorn, it gains an outlet to the Great Lakes and the whole Middle West. Thereby it becomes the shortest, most direct, best-built line between that great region and the South Atlantic states. It should be able to do a great business of every kind, especially in connection with the Panama Canal. Products of the South and the Middle West will be directly exchanged, and coal shipments can flow both ways. Much greater importance will attach to the improvement of the general discipline.

gin at Charleston in contemplation either of an extension from Spartanburg or of traffic (and reconstruction) arrangements with existing roads. We may hope, too, that at no very distant date the terminal property purchased some time ago at Southport will be also utilized, stagnate at Dante, no matter what the cost of winning through to Elkhorn. It is understood that the line from Elkhorn to the Ohio river will be rebuilt by the C. and O. on the standardized plan.

Thousands of laborers are now at work from both ends of the new section of road, and information is that all should be complete in twelve months. It will thus finish about even with, or only a little behind the opening to commerce of the inter-oceanic canal.

FORMER LOUISIAN DEAD.

John D. Reinhart, 71 President of the Reinhart & Newton Candy Co., died suddenly of heart failure Tuesday in the office of Attorney B. T. Archer, 61 Atlas Bank Building. Dr. Charles Buck and Dr. Walter Gress, who were called, notified Coroner Foertmeyer.

Reinhart had called at Archer's office to sign and verify the tax return for his company, to be filed with the County Auditor.

He died before the physicians reached him.

Reinhart lived at 758 Greenwood Ave., Avondale. He leaves a widow, three sons and a daughter.

He was a Captain in the Civil War and was a Shriner and high in Masonic circles. His brother, C. H. Reinhart, was on a fishing trip Tuesday and could not be reached.

Cincinnati Post.

Mr. Reinhart was formerly a resident of this city, where he was well known and liked. He was a Federal soldier, and at the close of the war he settled here and became a business partner of the late Dr. S. J. Yates, keeping a general store in part of the building now occupied by E. E. Shannon. He liked Louisa and her people, and when any of our citizens called at his place of business in Cincinnati they were warmly welcomed.

MET IN MONTHLY SESSION.

The city fathers met in regular monthly session on Tuesday last, and with them were some of our prominent women, members of the Nora Kennison Literary Club. These latter were delegates from the Club and had a message from the body they represent. The message concerned the condition of the streets, alleys, yards and vacant lots of Louisa, and was delivered with so much force and effect that the board designated May 23 and 24 as "clean up" days, agreeing to haul away all dirt, rubbish and so forth which had been collected in piles. Now, good people, don't let this effort at getting clean die a-bornin'.

Council also made another move in the road to civic cleanliness. It made it a misdemeanor on part of any pool room owner or manager to allow anyone under the age of 18 years, without a permit or with one from parent or guardian, to enter a pool room. This ordinance will take effect on its publication. The ordinance is a wholesome one and should be rigidly enforced.

AN INTERESTING MEETING.

Nearly 500 people, including many from this city, attended a meeting held on Sunday last at the James Prince place, on Blaine creek. The services were of a very interesting character and were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Plummer, pastor of the Louisa M. E. Church, who preached to the large and attentive congregation. A special feature of the occasion was the baptism by immersion of six persons, all residents of this city. They were Mr. and Mrs. Lock Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Dock Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shannon. Husband and wife were baptized together. Mr. Plummer being assisted by the Rev. William Copley in the administration of the ordinance. A like scene is not often witnessed.

Making Success as Warden.

Judge A. J. G. Wells, Warden of the State Reformatory at Frankfort, was in Louisville Saturday on business connected with the big institution over which he has charge, Judge Wells took to his new duties like a duck to water and has proved a fit successor to the late Warden E. E. Mudd in the opinion of his friends and the advocates of prison reform. Warden Wells is delighted with the success of the prison night school, which he started shortly after taking charge of the Reformatory, and he believes the inmates will not only largely profit by the learning they acquire, but that the innovation will improve the general discipline.

PRIZES OFFERED

By Business Men of Louisa for Road Improvement.

To Introduce the Split Leg Drag the Citizens of Our Town Will Co- operate With Officials.

The County Road Engineer was compelled to reject the bids received at both the first and second dates advertised for contracting certain roads to be put into condition and maintained for one year. There were only two bidders and the prices were too high. This leaves stranded one of the best plans ever proposed. It is difficult to see why there are not scores of bids on this work from farmers living along the roads advertised.

Since the failure of this proposition some of the business men of Louisa have taken up the matter in conjunction with Mr. Calloway and are offering prizes of sufficient value to justify the farmers in taking hold of a good portion of the work. The engineer will arrange to have the six days labor from road hands put in on the roads as soon as possible and the contestants for the prizes get the benefit of this.

The prize list has not yet been closed and there probably will be other valuable prizes added from time to time. Any contribution will be gladly received. Help out on this most important enterprise.

Following is a statement issued by County Road Engineer B. J. Calloway:

These prizes are offered to the farmers of Lawrence county or to any one who will put in condition and maintain two miles of road in this county, using the split log drag as means of maintenance. All persons are eligible to compete in this contest except assistants to the County Engineer. The judges will be Mr. Geo. R. Vinson, Cashier The First National Bank, and Mr. M. F. Conney, Cashier The Louisa National Bank, and a representative from the Department of Public Roads, Frankfort, Ky., who will go over your roads between the 1st and 31st of March, 1914, and inspect, act as judges, and award prizes to the successful competitors. All things will be taken into consideration by the judges, such as grades, locations and all difficulties under which you labored to maintain your road.

The Prizes.

First Prize. A two-horse wagon given by Mr. Augustus Snyder, of The Snyder Hardware Co.

Second Prize. A runabout given by Mr. E. E. Shannon, of the Louisa Furniture Co.

Third Prize. A Kentucky Spring Seat saddle, a Kentucky riding bridle and a $4.00 blanket given by The First National Bank of Louisa.

Fourth Prize. A suit of clothes given by Gartin & Blankenship guaranteed to cost $20.00. You can take your pick of their $20.00 suits.

Fifth Prize. An Over Coat given by Mr. W. L. Ferguson, up-to-date clother, guaranteed to cost $15.00.

Sixth Prize. Cash $10.00 given by Mr. R. L. Vinson, of the Louisa Produce Co.

Seventh Prize. One barrel first grade flour, 100 lbs. no 6 sugar, given by Dixon Moore & Co. The wholesale people.

Eighth Prize. Cash $5.00 given by Mr. W. D. Pierce, merchant of Louisa.

A handsome prize yet to be selected will be given by the Louisa National Bank.

All those who wish to enter the contest will send their names to the County Engineer, Louisa, Ky., to be entered in a book kept for that purpose, designating the location of your road, etc., and that your name may be published in this paper. Pick out two miles of road anywhere in this county and if you make changes in order to get better location, grades, etc., all these will be taken into consideration in the awarding of prizes. No one person can win more than one prize. These prizes are all desirable and are given by our most substantial business men, who are wide awake to the fact that bad roads are the greatest detriment to our county's progress.

It is needless to say that you will be given a square deal in the awarding of these prizes. All you have to do to win is to put two miles of your road in good shape by properly ditching and draining and keep it that way by using the split log drag till the judges come and look it over. These prizes are worth a great deal more in actual cash than you will be out when the contest ends. All these men who are giving these prizes in order to get the split log drag generally introduced in this county realize that when the farmers once see the cheapness of maintaining their roads with this simple, yet efficient device that our vexing road problem to a great extent will be solved. You can make one of these drags in about two hours, with about one dollar cost, or in many instances without any money spent at all. You can get full information how to make, how to use and when to use these drags by calling at either Bank in Louisa, or at the County Engineer's office. This is going to be a red hot contest right from the jump. There are a number already getting in shape to go after prize and it is going to be hard on a lot of mud holes in this country. The time to begin is now, so you can get your road ditched, crowned and properly drained, and after rains run your drag over your road a time or two and watch results. You will be surprised what a splendid device these drags are for keeping your roads in good shape, and at such a small cost. For any information call on The County Engineer. Come in and look these splendid prizes over and get information and then go to it.

BISHOP BURTON MAY 12.

The Rt. Rev. L. W. Burton, the distinguished Bishop of Lexington, will hold services and preach at the M. E. Church on the night of Monday, May 12. The Bishop has preached here many times and is always gladly received. The public is cordially invited to attend on this occasion. He will dedicate the new Episcopal church at Jenkins on Sunday, May 11.

Her Sixth Anniversary.

On Wednesday of last week, at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hatten, of Buchanan, Mary the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. D. Wallace, Jr., celebrated the 6th anniversary of her birth. About 30 young guests were present and enjoyed the ice cream, cake and strawberries.

"CLEAN UP" DAYS.

Saturday and Monday, May 17 and 18. Designated by Mayor.

To the Citizens of Louisa:

WHEREAS: The Nora Kennison Woman's Club, by a Committee composed of Mrs. Kennison, Sullivan and Byington, called on the Council at its last regular session, and succinctly reminded them that "cleaning up" time was at hand once again, and that our pretty little city should have the attention of every resident therein, to the end that its Civic Beauty might be retained, and its noted reputation for health sustained, and

WHEREAS: The City Council, cognizant of the country wide movement pertaining thereto, and appreciating the dangers that lurk in filth, in recognition of the honest purpose manifested by this body of workers for our good, passed resolutions in effort to further this project for a more beautiful and more sanitary Louisa,

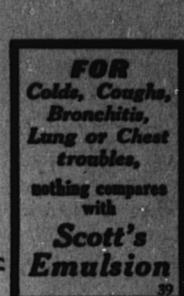

THEREFORE: I John G. Burns, Mayor of said City, hereby takes pleasure in officially designating Saturday and Monday May 17th and 19th as the CLEAN UP DAYS, and earnestly request every thoughtful citizen to do their share in this necessary work by the cleaning up, in and around their homes and places of business out to the center of the street or alley abutting their property, all filth, garbage and trash—the debris to be transported therefrom by expense of city—in this way putting our little town to the Van, its proper place, in Civic Beauty and Health. Cleanliness is such a great virtue that some one has said it is next to Godliness. So my proclamation is, LET EVERY BODY CLEAN UP.

May 8th, 1913.

JOHN G. BURNS, Mayor.

Mrs. M. C. Kirk and son and daughter-in-law, Russell Kirk and wife, all of Inez, went to Cincinnati Tuesday. Mrs. Russell Kirk had been in the hospital at this place several days for treatment but had recovered.

G. W. Atkinson made a business visit to Logan, W. Va., Wednesday.

THE WHOLE STORY.

The platform adopted by the Kentucky Educational Association without a dissenting vote declares for a Statewide movement to improve the rural schools, the consolidation of all district schools wherever practicable, the lengthening of the common school term, better trained and better paid teachers, a more effective truancy law, the teaching of agriculture and home-making, a better system of roads in every part of the State, a new system of taxation. To The Times' way of thinking this platform sums up the whole story of Kentucky's needs.

The bone and sinew of the State are its rural population. If that population is educated and equipped to meet its responsibilities Kentucky will have no cause to fear the future. This education must be practical, because the uses to which it must be put are the practical uses of home life, citizenship and stable government by an educated people. There can be no efficient system of schools without an accompanying system of good roads, schools, when built, must be accessible to be useful schools, when built, must be supported. Good roads mean ready access to the schools. They mean a rural population intelligent enough to demand advantages for its children, prosperous enough to pay the cost of them.

There will be no change in Kentucky's tax system until good school and good roads have supplanted illiteracy with education and pauper counties have been made self-supporting counties.

The teachers of this State have, in their platform, shown themselves possessed of vision. It will require courage and patience before the vision is realized. But that it will be realized none that compares the Kentucky of ten or eleven years ago can doubt.—Courier Journal.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

COLUMN DEDICATED TO TIRED
MOTHERS AS THEY JOIN
THE HOME CIRCLE AT EVENING TIDE.

Keep A Stiff Upper Lip.

The most perilous hour of a person's life is when he is tempted to despond. The man who loses his courage loses all. There is no more hope for him than there is for a dead man. It matters not, however how much he may be pushed by circumstances if he only keeps his courage up, holds up his head and with unconquerable will determines to be and do what becomes a man; all that makes or unmakes. Keep a stiff upper lip. Realize that success or failure depends, after all, on you and you alone. A man makes his own bed and must lie on it. So make up your mind that you will succeed and then get down to work with determination. "The road to wealth is as easy as the road to market." You must call to your aid all that can honestly assist you; can help you invest your savings, however small; that can invite you to further thrift; that can develop in you the courage and cheerfulness.

Did you ever visit your childhood's home? Well we remember the last visit to our own. The old house still stands, but what is it to us now that mother is not here, and my little brothers are all with her over beyond the wide river, waiting for us in a house not made with hands. It is the shell without the kernel. It is like the body after the spirit has departed and can inspire no joy only as it calls up the sweet memories of old delights. A retrospective of our childhood home is good for us. It teaches us how fleeting time is; how the sweetest and best of life's joys must pass away, and how all important to be diligent in our efforts to make our election sure for that changeless kingdom where there is no parting. The very best monuments that can be erected to our memories here are the living ones we have reared by good deeds in the hearts that are left behind.

It is but for a day—one day at a time—and that is all. It may be a day of joy or grief, of ease or pain, with its closing; these end up to the last hour of the twenty-four to return to us no more. Whatever may be in store for us in the future, the scenes of the past shall know no tomorrow, and the scenes of tomorrow, and the scenes of tomorrow will soon be numbered with the past. The man of wealth and fame is hurried along on the swift wings of time, as rapidly as the poor man oppressed with his heavy burdens, no slower. Days come and go, with their clouds and their sunshine, their lights and their shadows, and with their coming and their going, hurry us all to the approach of that day that will come but never go. In that one eternal day we shall reap the harvest from the seeds sown in this life. "And what shall the harvest be?"

We are prone to think of age as an unlovely time, an undesirable thing, but surely there are compensations in being seventy years young. Life has taught us its lessons and we are no longer assailed by doubt and uncertainty. Life has brought to us no burden that we could not bear, and we can face it serene and fearless. We have earned the right by years of labor and conflict, to do just as we please, to rest upon our laurels in peace, and let the world fare on in its folly and strife, its storm and passion, its work and worry. We have earned a right to the stately surroundings that suit the dignity of age. If we do not possess such surroundings, if the fine mansions, carriages, service, riches, that are so becoming in age, are not for us still we may possess treasures that no one can take from us—honor, wisdom, experience and the grateful love and respect of the younger generation.

If man ever really loves a woman, which some people doubt, it is a woman who never abuses him. Every woman seems to imagine that she is a sort of a missionary, and that as soon as she has "influence" over a man, she must reform him; make him different from what a man ever will be. No woman ever admitted that a man had a right to be natural. So she begins her reform work, and in a little while she has lost her influence. A man hates nagging and fault finding; he hates a woman who pretends to love him one minute and then abuses him the next. The only thing positively known about angelic men is, that there are none.

Nowhere is a woman's character more clearly shown, or her talents given more scope for cultivation than in home making, and in no sphere is the true woman more content and happier than in housekeeping. Home is indeed the "dearest place" on earth when rightly made, and the memory of which remains with us until death, and will do more to protect and restrain its inmates than the grandest and most eloquent sermons from the most gifted ministers and orators. In short, home is the kindergarten of all Christian work and influence, the starting point of all beautiful thoughts and deeds.

An obliging disposition may keep your wash tub and flat irons floating around the neighborhood eleven months in the year, but the same reason will bring in chicken broth and kind words in case you have a run of bilious fever.

One fault in the way of living of not a few people is that they never make company of their own families

OBITUARY.

Aunt Armintie Scott was born in Pike-co., Ky., April 12, 1843. Was married to John E. Scott August 5, 1869. She was converted April 1, 1909 and departed this life April 19, 1913, aged 70 years and 7 days. She left a husband and two children and many friends to mourn her loss, but our loss is heaven's gain and we do not mourn as those that have no hope. Her sickness was of long duration but she bore her suffering with much patience and she often spoke of the home beyond where there would be no suffering, pain or death, and she told her nurse, Mrs. Nancy Harman, that she was just waiting the Lord's will to call her. She asked her friends just a short time before her death to sing and while they sang "The Heaven bells are ringing and I am going home."

Additional Announcements.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for Sheriff of Lawrence county, subject to the decision of the Republican Primary Convention to be held in August next. I solicit the support of every voter in the country. HUGH H. CORDLE.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for Police Judge of the city of Louisa, subject to the action of the Democratic primary in August, 1913. Your support is earnestly solicited. Wm. M. FULKERSON.

I hereby announce my candidacy for re-election to the office of County Attorney, subject to the decision of the Democratic primary in August, 1913. I solicit the support of the voters of Lawrence county. JAMES W. HINKLE.

"Pistol toting" was made a felony when Gov. Cox, of Ohio, signed the Williams Bill recently passed by the Legislature. This is a hint to the next Kentucky Legislature.

Kentucky will benefit greatly by expected Government appropriations for good roads, which may be brought about by the announced forthcoming appointment of a Roads Committee in Congress.

Gov. Hatfield of West Virginia bitterly attacked Senator Kern, of Indiana, in a statement relating to a proposed resolution for the United States Senate to investigate conditions in the Kanawha coal fields.

Some of these Kentucky teachers, in their time, have had to change the old system and teach the young idea "not to shoot." Ex.

This is in sections where they had poor feed laws instead of pure food laws.

"Let's try free trade if we must have it," says Mr. Taft.

All right, professor, it's sure to be tried, as we are sure to have it. And the people will like it so well that it will be a long time before they will try the robber tax again.

Richard S. Webb, Jr., charged with house burning by setting fire at the office of Prof. F. Paul Anderson, dean of the school of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering at State University, on the night of October 30, 1912, was found not guilty. Thomas F. Butler had been previously tried for the same offense and was found guilty and is now doing time in the State Reformatory at Frankfort.

Editor A. S. Cooper, who recently purchased The Greenup Gazette, has sold the paper and equipment to ex-Congressman J. B. Bennett, owner of The Greenup Republican. The Republican takes over the subscription list and material of the Gazette in the form of a consolidated paper. It is understood that W. L. Myers, Editor of the Republican will remain in this capacity. Both papers are Republican.

Political affiliation is a prerequisite legal qualification for a candidate in the August primary, "as much so as age, residence, etc." declared Assistant Attorney General Charles Morris in a communication to a County Clerk, who inquired whether he could receive the petition of a person who is running on the Republican ticket and who last November voted the Progressive ticket.

Referring to the duties of the clerk, however, Mr. Morris said: "If the papers—petition and nomination papers—comply with the law as laid down in all their requisites, it appears to me that your duties are ministerial and you must file the petition and the nomination papers as directed in the law." He said except in cities, where registration is required, he cannot find any means laid down by which a clerk can determine the political affiliation of a candidate except to take the candidate's statement for it.

Gov. McCreary is much gratified over the State's fiscal showing as of April 30, just made to him by the State Auditor and State Inspector and Examiner. The report shows that at the close of business on April 30 the balances in the State treasury were: General expenditures fund, $720,538.12; school fund, $412,149.80, and sinking fund, $71,248 a total balance in the State treasury of $1,203,915.92. Discussing the report, Gov. McCreary said that the official figures would likely set at rest distorted statements that had been published from time to time by the critics of the present State administration, and would show to the people of the State that the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth were in safe and competent hands. The exact financial condition of every department of the State government is being prepared for submission to the next Legislature and that body will have an intelligent basis to work upon.

At the late meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association the following pledges were indorsed:

The Kentucky Educational Association indorses the following and pledges its support:

To the State-wide movement to improve the rural schools.

To the consolidation of all district schools wherever practicable.

To rural school supervision.

To an extension, as soon as practicable, of the common school term.

To the effort to have better trained and better paid teachers.

To a more efficient truancy law, with the necessary machinery for its enforcement, and such provisions for children from indigent homes that no excuse can be offered for not being in school.

To the absolute divorceement of the schools from politics.

To the teaching of agriculture and home-making in the schools.

To a better system of roads in every community in the Commonwealth.

To the movement to revise the present system of taxation.

Washington, D. C. May 6.—There is a chance—just a bare chance and no more—that the Kentucky senatorial primary will be held in August, 1913, after all. The State Department has discovered that only thirty-five States have ratified the direct elections amendment to the Constitution, instead of the thirty-six necessary to the Secretary's official proclamation. If the amendment is proclaimed before August the Kentucky senatorial primary is automatically postponed until 1914, but if the fact discovered by the department should not be remedied before that date the Kentucky primary will be held as originally scheduled.

The error arose over Wisconsin's action. That State ratified an incorrect copy of the resolution passed by Congress. When Senator LaFayette learned of this fact he at once sent imperative wires to the Wisconsin Legislature to correct its action at once, if possible, so that the total of thirty-six States may be at once secured and Secretary Bryan can proclaim the amendment. Wires were also sent to Florida, where the Legislature is in session, and the belief here is that the total of States required for proclamation will easily be made up within the week.

The Wayne News, published in one of the greatest coal producing States in the Union, speaking of the cry raised by some regarding the alleged disastrous results to the coal industry in case the tariff is taken from coal, speaks as follows:

While some persons are trying to make political capital against the Democratic party in West Virginia because of the fact that the Underwood tariff bill places coal on the free list, the uselessness of a tariff on coal imported to the United States is shown by the statement from the Department of Commerce, showing that coal experts from the United States to foreign countries increased about 33 per cent last year. The value of the coal exports of the United States for the year will amount to about $90,000,000. Canada is the greatest consumer of United States coal among the foreign countries, showing that the coal producer of the United States has nothing to fear from Canada as the result of free trade in coal.

This is putting the case strongly and truthfully. Mr. Langley, with the mental strabismus which sometimes dims his vision, affects to see ruin to the vast coal concerns in his district and financial disaster to all concerned if the Underwood tariff bill passes the house. Mr. Langley would also have the duty kept on meat and cattle and thus help maintain the high cost of living.

Notice to the School Boys of Gallup.

All school boys of the school district who expect to help make the 100 yards of good road, after school opens the coming school year, are requested to meet at the school house Monday morning, May 12, 1913, at 8:00.

Bring teams, tools, etc., as Mr. James Speed, of Louisville, wishes to "take" your picture.

He is going to write a story of the work you intend to do and wishes to send your picture and the story broadcast over Kentucky.

Big Verdict Against C. & O.

At Mt. Sterling Tuesday a jury in Circuit Court gave Mrs. Addie Kelly judgment for $18,000 for the death of her husband, who was killed by his engine turning over near Aden, on the C. & O. R. R., some two years ago. The case will be appealed.

A GOOD TIME
For the Boys and Girls of Louisa.

All the pupils of the Louisa Graded school (this includes all persons between the ages of six and twenty years), are invited to meet in ROOM THREE of the College next Saturday, May 10, at two o'clock.

The purpose of this meeting is to plan for organizing a club which in other cities of Kentucky is called the Junior Civic League.

Those who join will be divided into companies, and the work includes, so many interesting things that each member will be sure to find something which he or she likes to do. There will be no lessons to study, but there will be a grand good time for every boy and girl who joins.

Remember the time and place, next Saturday, May 10, at 2 o'clock in ROOM THREE of the K. N. C. Listen for the bell and come. Bring everybody you can, especially your chum.

Christian Church Holds Meeting.

The pastor, the Rev. C. M. Summers, began a series of meetings on Monday evening which will probably continue at least until the end of next week. On Tuesday the Rev. Mark Collis, an able and distinguished minister of Lexington, Ky., arrived and will, with the pastor, conduct the meeting until the close, preaching every night with day services on Sunday. A large audience greeted Mr. Collis at the church on the occasion of his first appearance before the people of Louisa, who listened with marked attention to a discourse of more than ordinary merit and ability. Mr. Collis has all the essential qualifications of an effective preacher. He has most agreeable personality and manner, things in themselves a good introduction to an audience. He is thoroughly imbued with the responsibilities of his high vocation, is educated and cultured, has a good voice, and speaks directly and plainly a message designed to win men and women to the better life. The meeting began well.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

The boys of the Tarklin and Gallup school districts will take notice of the coming visit of Mr. James J. Speed, of Louisville, Ky., on May 12 and 13. He has much to say to you concerning your club road work, much that will interest you and be of lasting good. Read the notices carefully and comply with the requests made.

The Gallup and Tarklin districts were selected by Mr. Speed and not by Mr. McClure.

The NEWS suggests also to the men of these districts that it will pay them to attend these meetings with the boys. The day can be profitably spent in this way, and your presence will be helpful and encouraging to your children.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The County Board of Education will meet in my office Thursday, May 15, 1913, at 10 a.m. for the purpose of filling vacancies in the office of Sub-district trustee and the transaction of other business.

County Diploma Examination will be held at Louisa Friday and Saturday, May 9 and 10.

The May Examination for teachers will be held at Louisa, commencing promptly at 8:15 a.m. Friday, May 16, 1913.

The various Division Boards will meet on the first Saturday in June to elect teachers, instead of the last Saturday as provided in the old law. In case no election is held on this date, no other election can be legally made until the last Saturday in July.

JAY O'DANIEL Supt.

Notice to the Tarklin School Boys.

All school boys of the district who expect to make the 100 yards of good road, after school opens the coming year, are requested to meet at the school house Tuesday, May 13, 1913, at 8:00.

Bring teams, tools, etc., as Mr. James Speed, of Louisville, wishes to "take" your picture.

He is going to write a story of the work you intend to do and wishes to send your picture and the story broadcast over Kentucky.

THE GIRL AND THE HAT.

A fitting companion piece to the sight-obstructing hat in church is the giggling gossiping girl who sits near you and obstructs your hearing. A "call down" from the preacher sometimes does a power of good.

TRAIN YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS RIGHT

Don't Let Them Waste Time
on Useless Studies.

WHAT CAN YOU EXPECT?

A Boy Trained For a Profession Is Not Apt to Be Contented or Successful as a Farmer—Yet Agriculture Is Quite as Important as the Classics or the "Learned" Professions.

Could you expect to rear a fine trotting horse or a good steady farm animal if you sent the beast in its early youth to a man who trained a stableful of fancy saddle stock? Can you expect your boy to go through the ordinary rural high school and have him stay hitched on the farm? These propositions are identical. The average county high school holds up ideals and teaches topics that will necessarily lead the boy to sigh for a city career in the learned professions, so called.

Are you and I to blame? Of course we are. It is only necessary for the parent, the taxpayers, the everyday folks who hold the purse strings to say: "Here, we have had enough of an education that is so old that it is musty—an education that is all books. Give our children an education that fits them for life here at home."

This new education that will fit people for life is coming, but it is coming too slowly in the country. Our very best young blood is being siphoned out of the country and into the city. The cities do not need this fine new blood; the country does.

It is quite easy to say that the cry is rising, "Back to the farm." But it is not at all easy for the city man to go—in fact, the city man, the man bred and born in a big city, can hardly go back to the soil with any degree of certainty that he will succeed. He lacks the technical part of farm work that comes through daily contact with live, growing things that contact which the country boy has had since the day he first began to notice things.

If these statements seem at all too strong simply pick up the Kentucky Educational Directory of 1912. Turn to the list of county high schools on page 34 and run through them. Out of about 180 approved high schools 114 are classical or English high schools and only thirty-six are scientific high schools.

Just so long as our country boys are pushed through schools that are classical in their tendencies just so long will our rural population drift cityward, for their education has developed them most carefully for that life.

IF YOUR BOY IS TO FARM TRAIN HIM FOR A FARMER.

IF YOUR BOY IS TO BE A PROFESSIONAL MAN TRAIN HIM IN THAT DIRECTION.

THIS IS 1913.

Would you plant and harvest as in 1850?
Would you light your house as in 1850?
Would you cook over the fire as in 1850?
Would you use a "muzzle loader" as in 1850?
Would you breed razorbacks as in 1850?

If everything on your farm and in your home bears the mark of 1913 why will you insist upon a school that was planned in 1850?

If your children are to live and earn a living in 1913 would it not be better to give them a 1913 education?

BY ALL MEANS.

Superintendent Barker has the right idea. He proposes to establish an agricultural course in the West Liberty high school. That should have been done at the outset. Wonder if there be any who are so shortsighted as to oppose? We hope not. An awful howl would be raised if some one should propose to take history, grammar or civics out of the curriculum. Agriculture is just as important as either of these.—Editorial Licking Valley Courier.

Pasadena, Cal., April 16, 1913.
DEAR PAPA:

Am writing to tell you of the awful accident that happened to Edgar last night, or this morning at 1:30 o'clock. While stooping over his bicycle, his revolver dropped from its holster, struck the ground, and fired. The ball entered his thigh, ranged upward into his abdomen.

Carlisle, Ky., May 1.—The Farmers' Union of Nicholas county is to establish a modern cooperative farm in Nicholas county at once. The farm will be of about fifty acres and farmed according to modern scientific methods. Crop rotation and conservation of the soil will be a feature of the work. Fruit and crop growing and the raising of registered thoroughbred stock will be engaged in.

CARDUI WORKED LIKE A CHARM

After Operation Failed to Help,
Cardui Worked Like a Charm.

Jonesville, S. C.—"I suffered with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, in a letter from this place, "and at times, I could not bear to stand on my feet. The doctor said I would never be any better, and that I would have to have an operation, or I would have a cancer.

I went to the hospital, and they operated on me, but I got no better. They said medicine would do me no good, and I thought I would have to die.

At last I tried Cardui, and began to improve, so I continued using it. Now, I am well, and can do my own work. I don't feel any pains.

Cardui worked like a charm."

There must be merit in this purely vegetable, tonic remedy, for women—Cardui—for it has been in successful use for more than 50 years, for the treatment of womanly weakness and disease.

Please try it, for your troubles.

The Logan court house was destroyed by fire Jan. 1912, only the walls being left standing. Work was begun on the new structure early in the spring and has gone steadily ever since and now it is ready for occupancy, except for cleaning up after the workmen. The remodeled building is a credit to the town and county and many more prosperous counties do not boast a court house its equal. The floors and interior walls are of reinforced concrete and all windows and doors are of steel construction, making a building that is as near fireproof as is possible to build, and the court records will be safe from destruction by fire.

OBITUARY.

Clara Robinson, daughter of R. P. Robinson, of Zelma, has passed from this world of sin to the world above. Clara was born March 11, 1887, and departed this life April 28, 1913. Her death was a shock to her many friends, having been sick but a few days. She was a member of the Buchanan Sunday school. She was not a member of the church, but before she died she professed faith in Christ and said she was going home. Her father not being by her bedside she sent word for him to meet her in Heaven.

The funeral services were conducted by the writer in the presence of many friends and relatives. She leaves a father and mother, 4 brothers and 2 sisters to mourn their loss. May the God of peace comfort the father and mother, brothers and sisters, and may they all strive to meet her in the world where pain can never enter.

No chilling winds nor poisonous breath can reach that Healthful shore;

SUMMER COURSES IN AGRICULTURE.

During the approaching summer the College of Agriculture of Kentucky State University will offer special courses in agriculture in conjunction with the regular summer courses of other department.

Teachers should be especially interested in this work as it will deal with the fundamental principles of the subjects treated and will offer many good suggestions for the conduct of agricultural teaching in the common and high schools.

Many of the states have laws providing for the teaching of agriculture in the schools and it is probably only a matter of a little time until Kentucky will have a similar law. Many of the most progressive schools of the state are already teaching agriculture. This serves to make the school infinitely more useful and popular in the community and marks the teacher as one of the progressive kind, far more valuable than the average. The school that best serves the community interests fulfills its mission best and in the vast majority of Kentucky communities, agriculture is the chief interest.

The facilities of the Kentucky college for the teaching of agriculture are the very best and the wide awake teacher or farmer should not miss the opportunity to attend. The summer season offers advantages for field work among the growing crops that cannot be had during the winter.

The work will be so arranged that work in other departments can be carried on at the same time.

Beginning June 23rd and continuing four days a special series of lectures and laboratory work will be arranged for ministers and also for county school superintendents.

The summer courses will include Soils and Crops, Dairying, Horticulture, Animal Husbandry, Poultry, Entomology, Bacteriology, Farm Management and Home Economics. The regular faculty will conduct the work and no pains will be spared to make the work of the highest value.

The courses will begin Tuesday, June 10th and will extend to August 1st.

On arrival in Lexington, students may report to the office of the Extension Division at the Agricultural College where a list of convenient boarding places with reasonable rates is kept. Students should be on hand at the opening as it is impossible to make up work lost by tardiness. No fees for agriculture will be charged.

For further information, address T. R. BRYANT, Supt. Extension Division Experiment Station, Lexington, Ky.

How To Preserve Your Buildings.

The season is here for dressing up your buildings in a new covering of paint for the sake of appearances as well for preservation. A few dollars spent in this way in time saves many more in protection. The Snyder Hardware Company makes a good line of paint. Give them a call.

A FAKIRLESS SHOW.

A Tented Show That Will Spring a Surprise. Something That the People Have Been Looking For.

The Sun Brothers' World's Progressive Shows, that are heavily billed to exhibit at Louisa for two performances, is one of the legitimate out-door amusement institutions of this country. It has a record of twenty-two years of continuous service before the people of this country and further has the distinction of being the very cleanest tent exhibition that ever traversed the good old United States. It has never allowed any Gamblers, Fakirs, Fortune Tellers, Oriental dancing girl concerns, no catch penny devices, no ticket scalpers, no short change artists, no people to follow it from town to town with questionable prize schemes, no street corner ropers-in and in fact nothing that can in any way reflect on a first class, well conducted, educational attractive and real management is to be entertainers of the public and not part and parcel of a bunch of grafters.

The show this season is the finest and best ever devised by this well known and liberal form of managers. Many new wild beast subjects; all new big top artists; new band and orchestra; new tents and in fact a brand new splinter show all around, and with no increase in the prices of admission.

This big tented show will appear afternoon and night on May 16th.

DROPPED DEAD.

Squire Ezekiel Damron, of Meta, this county, died of heart disease at his home at 6:30 last Thursday evening. Luther Damron, his son, of Millard, Ky., formerly a citizen of Pikeville, was here when the news of the Squire's death arrived. He left for Meta on the following morning.

Squire Damron was 54 years old, and had enjoyed perfectly good health up to the moment of his death. On a few occasions in past years he has been lightly touched with the disease that caused his death, but they were of such slight character that he had no reason to fear them. But when the final attack struck him, he died almost immediately covered by insurance.

Lon Ford's infant son fell from the doorway of his home on Second-st., last Sunday morning and was badly bruised about the face.

Mrs. W. H. Caudill, of Catletts-burg, is the guest of Mr. Caudill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Caudill in this city this week.

Pond creek, which will be their future home.

J. C. C. Mayo, wife and children left Paintsville Monday morning for Europe via New York City. They will be absent for several months.

The home of Mrs. Eph Moore, at Ward Siding, ten miles above here, was burned to the ground Sunday afternoon, resulting in a total loss of about $2000. The destruction was partially covered by insurance.

Highest Death Rate From Measles.

Statistics from the Bureau of the Census having to do with the causes of death, the report covering 1911, and showing the proportion of deaths from various causes occurring in different States and cities indicate the following:

Kentucky had the highest death rate from measles, 19.7 of all the registration States, there having been a total of 5,992 deaths during the year from this cause. Louisville's proportion of the death rate from measles among cities of over 100,000 population, was 25.5. Among the States having the highest death rate from diphtheria and croup, Kentucky was fourth; it had the second highest rate from whooping cough, the highest death rate, by far, from tuberculosis, but it was among the lowest in the death rate from cancer.

CAPITAL STOCK $26,000,000.

Charleston, W. Va., May 5.—The Bikhorn Fuel Company, of Ashland, Ky., of which former United States Senator C. W. Watson, of West Virginia, is president, filed an amendment to its charter here to-day increasing its authorized capital from $150,000 to $26,000,000 and increasing its coal acreage to over 200,000 acres.

It is the intention to take over the Beaver Creek Consolidated Coal Company, Rich Mountain Coal Company, Copeland Coal Company, Long Fork Coal Company, Otter Coal Company and the Northern Coal and Coke Company, mostly in Kentucky.

Mountain Y. M. C. A. Work.

During the past year eight new mountain Young Men's Christian Associations have been organized with buildings ranging in value from five to thirty thousand dollars. In each instance these buildings were given by mining companies. These associations are open every day in the week, and are the only uplifting influences in these places. About 30,000 industrial workers in the Eastern part of the State have been reached in this manner. This work is directly supervised by the State Committee of the Kentucky Associations.

SPOKE TO ASSOCIATION.

Mr. J. B. McClure, of this city, attended the recent meeting of the K. E. A. in Louisville in the dual capacity of teacher and supervisor of the Lawrence County Corn Club.
He made a fine address to nearly 5000 teachers, speaking concerning the aims and work of the clubs. Mr.
McClure's address was received with marked approbation, the city papers publishing considerable portion of it with favorable comment. He has been a most successful teacher in Kentucky and the Virginia's, and will no doubt direct the corn clubs with equally good results.

A Little Late, But Welcome.

The teachers' money, due the 2nd of Feb. last, is in the hands of Supt. O'Daniel and will be paid on demand.
